

a three-day camp for children 8 to 10 years old!

Introduction to Horse Whispering

PLACE: Twin Oaks Farm, 5629
Prospect Rd, Longmont, CO

DATE: Aug. 10th, 11th and 12th, 2010

TIME: 8:30 am - 3 pm

COST: $200

In this three-day camp, children will learn how horses communicate and connect with one another. Each day we will explore the following activities:

- Observing the herd & learning about their body language
- Playing games that teach about communication with the horses and one another
- Art projects – sometimes painting the horses!
- Picnics, swimming in Left Hand Lake
- Short riding time that uses the horse whispering theme of the day.

ERIN TANNER JOSPE, MA, LPC, has worked in the field of social/emotional education with children for twelve years. She has worked as a school counselor in Los Angeles and Boulder. She is graduated of Naropa University. Currently, she is training her filly at Twin Oaks Farm and teaches mindfulness courses in Boulder and Denver.

ISABELLE JORIS, PT, is an EAGALA-certified practitioner of equine-facilitated growth and learning. She shares a passion for horses with her husband and daughter. Together, they have been exploring the magic and joy of inter-species communication with the 11 horses (and two llamas) they live with. A native French speaker, Isabelle speaks fluent English, Spanish, and German. She lived in Europe, South America, and the Middle East, and practiced as a PT and energy therapist in many different cultural and linguistic environments.
